Decision On Lewis Delayed

Judge to Wait Until Monday

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today heard arguments in John L. Lewis's contempt trial and put off any decision until Monday.

Assistant Attorney General H. Graham Morison argued for the government that Lewis and the United Mine Workers were clearly in contempt of court for continuing a coal mine work stoppage for a week after a court order was issued for it to end.

Attorneys for Lewis made only a one sentence argument:

"The government has failed to prove its case."

That came from Welly K. Hopkins, chief of the eight-man battery of counsel Lewis has.

Goldsborough then adjourned court until Monday.

Now the only thing left in the contempt case is the judge's ruling—and the punishment if the ruling is for conviction.

When court was adjourned, Hopkins and Lewis went into a whispered huddle. Then the mine chief and his small army of lawyers filed silently out of the room.

HITS ARGUMENT

In his argument, Morison hit hard at Lewis's position that no coal strike ever was called.

The government attorney said that contention was an "affront to common sense."

Morison told Goldsborough a finding of guilt "is the only one consistent with the undisputed facts."

It has been shown, he said, that no action was taken by the union or its president on a court order for a resumption of work in the mine fields for seven days after it was issued.

The order was served on Lewis April 5. Exactly one week later, he instructed his miners to go back to work. Those instructions went out after he had agreed to a compromise plan providing $100 a month pensions at age 62 to miners with 20 years service.

A dispute over pensions preceded the walkout March 15.

Seeks Truce In Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(UP)—The United Nations security council prepared to order a truce in Palestine today despite refusals of both Arabs and Jews to lay down arms except on their own terms.

The council opened an afternoon meeting to vote on a sternly-worded cease-fire order which already had won strong majority backing in private meetings.

The truce plan was aimed at quieting the Holy Land on the eve of an emergency general assembly session summoned to untangle the Palestine problem and, if possible, to avert a civil war in the heart of the Middle East.

The United States, author of the truce plan, staked most of its program for a Palestine trusteeship on success of the move.

Reports from Palestine, however, raised doubts that either Arabs or Jews would, at this late stage, end their violence and lay down arms. U. N. officials fresh from Palestine reported that actual events had gone so far ahead of the confused U. N. negotiations over Palestine that Holy Land partition was in a sense already in effect.

Martha Taft Raps Stassen

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Mrs. Martha Taft, wife of the Republican presidential aspirant, returned to Washington today from Cleveland after blistering attacks on the Ohio tactics of Harold E. Stassen.

Speaking in suburban Bratenahl last night, Mrs. Taft, without mentioning Stassen by name, scored him for his methods in the Ohio primary campaign and said that Stassen "cannot face an honest showdown."

She declared Stassen has publicly praised the Taft-Hartley labor law, but that he seeks Ohio delegates to the National Republican convention only in the industrial areas

Northsiders Plan to Circulate Petition for Rail Underpass

Petitions requesting the city to construct a passenger and vehicular tunnel under the Erie and Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks north of North Lake park will start circulating in the city tomorrow, Marion Sackman, 593 McPherson street, announced today.

One of the fathers of the underpass proposal, Sackman said papers have been prepared to cede the city, free of charge, the necessary right-of-way from Lawnsdale avenue south to the railroad tracks.

The land and funds for grading the 30-foot-wide right-of-way are being donated by Jacob C. Erndt, 278 Park avenue east.

The News-Journal recently focused attention on the need for a safe crossing at the park. Northside high school students who walk to school, cross the unprotected railroad tracks in the vicinity of the proposed underpass in order to save three-quarters of a mile going and coming from school.

Agitation for a railroad crossing somewhere between Bowman street and Trimble road has bobbed up at intervals for the past 25 years.

Since there is no established crossing between Bowman street and Trimble road, it would take students as far as three-quarters of a mile out of their way if they should cross either by way of Bowman street or Trimble road.

A group of northside residents recently decided that something had to be done to protect the lives of their children and to speed the flow of north-south traffic through the city.

They approached Fred Miller, chairman of the city council street committee, with the underpass idea. Miller told them that he and his committee will meet with them to discuss the plan.

"For the sake of our children," Miller said, "we should work out something, if the price is not beyond our reach."

The question of cost has held up work in the past on similar proposals. Construction of a viaduct at Rowland avenue had been suggested, but the high cost ruled out the project.

Sackman has no estimates of what the proposed underpass will cost, but explained that the cost would be shared by the city and the railroad.

Seems Male Delivery's Too Good

CINCINNATI —(UP)— Mrs. Thelma Terry came here from Pine Knot, Ky., to have her baby in Bethesda hospital. The mother of four boys, she was hoping for a girl.

The baby was born today—and turned out to be triplets, all boys.

Their father, Arthur Terry, is a coal miner at Pine Knot.

All of the babies weighed a little more than three pounds. Now in an incubator, all were in good condition.

Drive Begun By Stassen

Candidate Seeks Delegates In Ohio

HIRAM —(AP)— Fresh from triumphs in Wisconsin and Nebraska, Harold E. Stassen planned another Ohio invasion today in his state presidential primary campaign against Sen. Taft (R-Ohio).

Following his arrival in Youngstown by chartered plane, the Republican presidential aspirant motored here to deliver the keynote address at Hiram college's mock GOP convention.

He then planned to return to Youngstown for afternoon and evening speeches.

Gov. Thomas A. Dewey's candidacy at the college convention was to be represented by John E. Burton, budget director for New York state. Paul Walter, Cleveland attorney, will speak for Taft.

Stassen's victory in Nebraska prompted his Ohio campaign manager, Earl E. Hart, to predict he would win 10 to 12 of the state's 53 convention delegates.

The Nebraska count, with only 47 of the state's 2,024 precincts missing, gave:

Stassen 78,610, Dewey 62,444, Taft 20,680, Senator Arthur Vandenberg 8,863, Gen. Douglas MacArthur 6,679, Gov. Earl Warren of California 1,772 and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin 886.

The returns gave Stassen 13 of the state's 15 votes on the first nominating ballot at Philadelphia. But Taft backers still hope to pick up some Nebraska support in later balloting. The results of the preferential vote are not officially binding on the delegates.

British End Death Penalty

LONDON—(UP)—Great Britain, which once hanged criminals for stealing a loaf of bread, abolished the death penalty for murder today.

For a five-year experimental period the maximum penalty for murder will be life imprisonment. During that time hanging will be reserved only for those convicted under the treachery act for such crimes as treason or sabotaging the royal dockyards.

The bill abolishing the death penalty for murderers was passed by the House of Commons last night by a vote of 245 to 222.

Dump Truck Wrecks Train

KREMLIN, Okla. — (AP) — A dump truck crashed into a speeding Rock Island train yesterday derailing three coaches and killing two passengers. Thirty-nine others were injured, three critically.

The impact knocked the coaches into a freight train on a siding and two of the coaches caught fire.

The left sides of three coaches were ripped off. Those killed and most of the injured were riding in the coach hit by the truck.

Boulevards Annexation Sought

Council Authorizes Request By Petition

Petitions for the annexation of South Boulevards to Mansfield began circulating today after the village council last night approved the annexation plan.

The councilmen approved the plan as individuals. The council is not required by law to approve the measure, but the formality was carried out to avoid legal technicalities.

Also approved by Mayor Harry E. Colbow, the petition is the first step in a long legal chain of events leading to annexation. The village has a population of about 900.

The document must be signed by a majority of the legal voters of the community and then presented to Mansfield city council.

Council then must pass a preliminary ordinance which, in effect, declares the body's "desire to cooperate."

The petition and ordinance are then sent to the county commissioners who, along with the county auditor, must work out an apportionment of the village's debt between the city and Madison township.

This completed, a certified copy of the debt apportionment is presented to city council which then must pass a final ordinance of annexation.

Before its incorporation in 1938, South Boulevards applied for annexation and was turned down by city council. The community incorporated to become eligible for WPA aid to build a sewage disposal system.

Anti-Soviet Move Bared

By KINGSBURY SMITH

ROME —(INS)— Mobilization of Christian forces of the western world to combat the spread of communism was declared today to be the real purpose of the current mission in Europe by Myron C. Taylor, special envoy of President Truman.

It was learned exclusively that Taylor is bent on establishment of a virtual religious "anti-cominform" to fight the expansion of communism.

Taylor has resumed highly confidential discussions with top level Vatican officials after two private meetings with Pope Pius XII.

As the personal envoy of Mr. Truman, Taylor is conducting in effect a one-man twentieth century crusade to organize the cooperation of Christian churches against communism.

He seeks also the support of European political leaders in this plan. He is urging them to help arouse the Christian conscience of the western world

CHARLES OSWALT
. . . mother and brother die in fire

★ ★ ★

Too Young to Tell of Tragedy

Boy, 3, Loses Mother And Brother In Fire

Three-year-old Charles Oswalt lay in a room in General hospital today unaware that his mother and two-year-old brother were dead.

Charles himself was suffering from first and second degree burns.

His mother, Mrs. Blanche Oswalt, 22, died in Mercy hospital in Mt. Vernon about 6 p m yesterday of burns over her entire body, suffered when the family two-room cottage in North Liberty burned to the ground.

The body of Charles's brother Harold, 2, was found in the ruins after the Fredericktown fire department had extinguished the smoldering embers.

Harold's body was found near the kitchen stove. Fire Chief Sperry Richey said he was told the fire started following an explosion of the kerosene stove at 11 a m.

HUSBAND ASLEEP

Mrs. Oswalt's husband, David L. Oswalt, an employe on the night shift at the Empire Steel company in Mansfield, was reported to have been asleep. Awakened by the explosion, he pushed his critically-burned wife from the house, but was unable to rescue Harold.

Charles, too young to discuss the tragedy, could not tell hospital attendants how he escaped the flames. He was brought to General hospital about noon yesterday by a neighbor.

Chief Ritchey said the house was engulfed in flames when he arrived. Nothing could be saved but firemen worked to extinguish the flames when they were informed little Harold had died in the fire.

The Oswalt family had been occupying the cottage while they were building a larger house on the same lot. Friends said Oswalt was doing much of the labor himself.

The bodies of Mrs. Oswalt and her son, Harold, were in Snyder funeral home in Butler today awaiting funeral arrangements.

Survivors besides the husband and father and Charles are Mrs. Oswalt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perry of Butler; a brother, Pfc Henry Lee Perry, Camp Stoneman, Calif.; a sister, Beverly Jewel Perry, at home, and her grandmothers, Mrs Martha Beard, Mammoth, W. Va., and Mrs. Bertha Hudson, Hazy, W. Va

Plans Longer Toll Highway

HARRISBURG, Pa —(AP)—Gov. James H. Duff says Pennsylvania will make a survey to extend the famed Pennsylvania turnpike bonds to be liquidated by tolls from traffic.

He also revealed construction will start this year on a 100-mile extension to the Philadelphia area. The present 160-mile superhighway runs from Irwin to Middlesex.

House Backs 70-Group Air Force

President Voices Sharp Disapproval

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House unanimously voted additional funds today to start expanding the nation's Air Force from 55 to 70 groups.

By a vote of 115 to 0, it added $822,000,000 to a $2,376,100,000 bill originally designed to finance a 55-group air force all of it is in contract authority for which cash must be provided later unless Congress cancels it.

The increase was proposed by Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House appropriations committee.

The action was not final, however, since the House still must act on other parts of the bill and the Senate has not considered it at all.

No one explained, and no one in the House apparently knows, just how many additional planes the extra money will provide.

Shortly before the action was taken, President Truman bluntly repudiated the recommendation by his Secretary for Air W. Stuart Symington for a 70-group Air Force.

The chief executive somewhat heatedly said in a news conference that the administration's program is that which has been outlined to Congress by Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal—a 55-group Air Force and a balanced ground Army and Navy.

Sunshine Greets City

Mansfielders found it a lot easier to roll out of bed today with sunlight streaming through the window.

Almost five days of rain gave way to blue skies and climbing temperatures. Farmers and weather observers alike hoped the sun would dry out the drenched soil and halt the rising tide of the flood along the Ohio river.

Even though the weather promoted thoughts of planting for many a gardener, Ohio State university's extension service advised no planting until the soil is drier.

Silt loam and clay loam soils, worked when wet will become dry and hard and will not be productive all summer. Soil should be dry enough to crumble before the peas, lettuce and radishes go in, the garden experts said.

Frost may hit in scattered places tonight but the mercury is expected to climb rapidly Friday afternoon. Clear skies are forecast. Low temperature this morning was 35.

Shannon Air Crash Kills 30

SHANNON AIRPORT, Eire—(AP)—The "Empress of the Skies," a Pan-American World Airways Constellation, crashed coming in for a landing here today and 30 persons, including 19 Americans, died in the blazing wreckage.

Marc Worst, 38, of Burbank, California, was the sole survivor. He said the force of the crash threw him out through the baggage compartment. His wife, waiting at the airport to meet him, witnessed the tragedy.

Worst is manager of Lockhead Aviation corporation's base at Shannon. Lockheed builds the Constellations, four-engined craft costing about $1,000,000 each.

There was no immediate explanation concerning the cause of the crash. Basil Warnock, American overseas airlines stationmaster at Shannon, said weather observers reported three-mile visibility at the time of the crash—2:34 a. m. (9:34 p. m. Wednesday EST). Other sources said the ceiling was about 400 feet.

MAKING SECOND TRY

The crash occurred as the big plane came in for a second try at Shannon's main air strip. Witnesses said it apparently hit an obstruction, skidded along the ground for a ways and then burst into flame. The wreckage burned more than three hours.

"I don't know what happened," Warnock said, "but the pilot couldn't make it."

The "Empress of the Skies" claimed to have set a new trans-Atlantic record April 19, 1947, by landing here five hours and 55 minutes after leaving Gander, Newfoundland.

The last bad crash here occurred last December, when the Constellation "Star of Cairo" flew into the ground, killing 13.

Clay Ousts Hungarians

Missions Ordered Out of U. S. Zone

FRANKFURT — (UP) — Fifteen members of two Hungarian missions were ordered today to leave the United States zone of Germany within 48 hours.

An army announcement said the expulsions were ordered by Gen. Lucius D. Clay because no satisfactory explanation had been given for treatment of an American train in Hungary in January when Hungarian authorities permitted Soviet troops to plunder the cars.

Those ordered expelled were members of the Hungarian repatriation and restitution missions, who have been active in the repatriation of Hungarian displaced persons in the American zone.

The announcement said a full report on the Hungarian incident was brought to Clay's attention on April 5. He demanded immediate explanations, but those tendered by the Hungarians in Germany and by the Hungarian foreign office in Budapest were unsatisfactory.

Clay first gave the Hungarians 72 hours to produce a satisfactory explanation. This was extended another three days when they pleaded communications difficulties between Frankfurt and Budapest.

The army announcement said the incidents involved an American repatriation train carrying 480 Hungarian repatriates from the American zone to Komarom, 40 miles inside the Hungarian border.

The train was escorted by two American officers and 11 men. It was stopped by Hungarian border police under Maj. Erno Razo at Hegyeshalo despite the fact it had proper approval and clearances from the Hungarian liaison mission in Munich.

Girl Claims Boss Is Spy

MOSCOW—(AP)—Robert Magidoff, Moscow correspondent for the National Broadcasting company, was denounced as a spy for the United States today by his former secretary, a native of Michigan.

In a long letter published in the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia, the secretary, Cecilia Nelson, accused Magidoff of using his position here to collect information for an American espionage service

She said Magidoff, also correspondent here for the British Exchange Telegraph agency and recently for the McGraw-Hill Publishing company, has been sending intelligence reports in U. S. diplomatic pouches.

Disaster Danger Easing

River Cities Awaiting Crest

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Ohio river people in scores of communities already flooded or threatened by rising water began the long wait today for floodwaters to reach their crest and start down.

Old-timers who have watched for years from such key spots as Marietta, Pomeroy, Gallipolis, Ironton and Portsmouth were cheered by this morning's dry skies. With no rain of any size in sight at least until Saturday, they expressed hope that their cities would get by with slight additional damage.

The Ohio was eight to ten feet out of its banks from Marietta, 172 miles below the river's beginning at Pittsburgh, to Cincinnati, 300 miles farther downstream.

However, official forecasters held to their crest predictions of a few feet more but still short of the disaster mark in most places.

At Portsmouth, where the stage was close to 60 feet—10 above flood stage—this morning, and heading for a predicted 62, the rate of rise had slowed from .2 feet an hour to .15. The Scioto river, entering the Ohio there, was falling at most points and was even taking backwater from the Ohio.

Army engineers expected to finish an emergency dike this afternoon to piece out the partly completed floodwall. The $11,000,000 wall will protect to 77 feet, three feet higher than the record flood of 1937, but the city will be safe only to 64 to 66 feet with the emergency levee.

WALL SAVES IRONTON

Ironton, 30 miles upstream from Portsmouth, was safe behind a finished 73-foot wall, although neighboring villages had sent about 100 families to safety from low-lying homes. The morning stage there was 57.4 feet, with a crest of 59 expected Friday.

Gallipolis, historic pioneer town settled by the French, had 55.5 feet, 3.5 over flood stage, with two more predicted, and numerous families from the eastern end were cared for in the Gallia Academy high school building. The six families of the nearby village of Adamsville were all moved out by high water on Raccoon creek.

The Kanawha river, which enters the Ohio from West Virginia eight miles above Gallipolis, was still rising but not expected to upset the forecast.

Marietta, Ohio's first permanent white settlement, expected close to 47 feet, with a possible crest late today. Much of the business district, which is all on low ground, was under one to six feet of water, but merchants had hoarded up and moved the stock to higher floors. The city, which is 172 miles below Pittsburgh, had 175 families in a shelter house, an increase of 50 overnight.

At Pittsburgh, where the Allegheny river from Pennsylvania and the Monongahela from West Virginia meet to form the Ohio, the crest had come at 29.83. Flood stage there is 25 feet.

Sheriff Helps Woman Win Freedom In Robbery

Brunette Bursts Into Tears as Judge Clears Her

Charges of armed robbery against Mrs. Veronica Black, 26, Columbus, were dismissed in municipal court today. Sheriff Frank E. Robinson testified that she tried to argue her husband and an ex-convict out of robbing the Wade and Roberts restaurant at Orchard Park on April 5.

Mrs. Black, a slender brunette, burst into tears when Judge H. H. Schettler sustained the defense motion to dismiss the case because of insufficient evidence.

Conservatively attired in a gray suit, she waited until she regained her composeure, then approached the bench and thanked the judge.

Mrs. Black, her husband, Wallace F., 24, and a companion, Donald L. Bowman, 29, of Cleveland were arrested April 5 on charges of robbing the Wade and Roberts restaurant of $200. All three pleaded innocent to the charges. They were captured in Mt. Vernon 22 minutes after the holdup.

Bowman, who was paroled from the Ohio State penitentiary in October 1945 after serving four years and four months for assault with intent to rob, waived preliminary hearing in court today and was bound over to the grand jury under $5,000 bond.

Black waived preliminary hearing when arraigned on April 8 and is held in the county jail for the grand jury under $2,000 bond.

None of the nine witnesses called by Prosecutor Theodore Lutz testified to seeing Mrs. Black take any part in the holdup.

Instead, Sheriff Robinson testified Black, after his arrest, asserted that his wife had protested vigorously against the holdup plan.

TOOK EXTRA KEYS

Fearful that she might drive away, Black told the sheriff that he had taken an extra set of keys to their automobile from Mrs. Black before he and Bowman approached the restaurant. It was Bowman's suggestion, Sheriff Robinson said Black told him, that the keys be removed.

Under cross examination by Attorney Frank Cipriano, Columbus, Robinson said Mrs. Black's brother told him that she had a "very good" reputation.

Walter Ink, who noted the license plate of the get-away car and notified police, testified that he saw Black use a gun in the holdup.

Italy Tense As Election Draws Near

Authorities Ready To Smash Uprising

MILAN —(INS — Tension is running high in Milan and throughout Italy in the wake of a pre-election warning to communists by Premier Alcide de Gasperi to abandon any ideas for insurrection.

Authorities are on the alert everywhere as the Italian people ask each other if the communists in their country can seize power by force as they did in Czechoslovakia.

An on-the-spot survey shows that they have made elaborate preparations for such a coup. High-placed government officials said they have evidence that the communists have been receiving large quantities of arms from Yugoslavia, France and even Spain during the last months.

High Italian sources estimate that in case of an uprising the communists could muster about 400,000 well-armed partisans.

In their view, the communist organization in Italy is as good and efficient as any of Stalin's fifth columns in Europe.

However, a Red rebellion in Italy would have to cope with the army, the police, the carabinieri and a huge task force of Catholic partisans of World War II.

Precautions Taken

Informants say the army has taken all necessary measures to protect the large cities, communication centers, power works, radio stations and railway headquarters in Italy.

There are no communists in the officers' corps as there were in Czechoslovakia or Romania. Troops are equipped with enough tanks and heavy weapons to keep vital areas under control.

The police used to be largely communist after the liberation in 1945. In the last two years all unreliable officers were replaced or removed from responsible positions.

It is estimated that today 80 per cent of the police manpower can be fully trusted, and the remainder does not wield any influence.

The carabinieri always were a troop of thoroughly non-political guards of law and order.

The Catholic partisans also represent a fighting force to be reckoned with. A few Sundays ago 40,000 of them staged a parade through Milan, wearing blue scarves as a distinctive sign. They carried no weapons but their military bearing and discipline made a deep impression on the populace. The total strength of this new organization is said to surpass 100,000 volunteers.

Its spokesmen did not conceal the fact that, in case of emergency, they would all be equipped with modern weapons.

It is generally felt that this combination of opponents is much stronger than anything the communists can put into the field at the present time. Therefore, any violent action on their part would undoubtedly result in a civil war in which the odds would be strongly against them.

Style Dictates Lavender Hose For Women, Loud Ties For Men

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Don't snicker when you look at that tin-type of Aunt Hessie and Uncle Jasper!

Give the "new look" stylists six more months and YOU might be snuggling into whalebone and crinoline!

Seemingly borrowing their inspiration from the Gay 90's, the geniuses who dictate the fashions from their chrome and leather palaces say the women will be demure; the men bold.

If you're the "tailored type," you'll either have to change the personality or be an individual and do as you like. Merchants doubt there will be many dissenters among the lot.

Latest—or should we say "newest" of the "new looks" is the somewhat shocking advent of pastel hose and shoes on the market. Mansfield stores, which have stocked to the brim with everything from apple green to pale lavender in the sheer leg coverings, say they've been forced to re-order various tints.

MATCH ANY SHADE

Shoe stores promise they can match any "new" shade of hose the jobbers send.

The entire effect is supposed to produce a head-to-toe pink, green, yellow or lavender ensemble.

Just to set it off, the fashion-wise Mansfield woman will don mercerized lace mits, covering the elbow, and carry a gold kid purse.

The result—a short-skirted tomboy of 1945 turned into a floral-tint portrait of 1948.

And while m'lady becomes frillier, the men—bless their souls—will be given a chance for the first monopoly on masculine clothes since the 19th amendment!

Men will be men—bold, broad shouldered and daring—at least on the surface. The loudest tweeds seen in shops for years take priority for topcoats and even suits. Ties are at their best in bold, horizontal stripes.

Sportcoats, generally a little louder than the ordinary suit companion piece, are sprouting forth in gay chartreuse corduroy!

Nick Weber, Helen Beeber Feature Head Pin Tourney

Heaving firing last night on the Richland Recreation center bowling alleys thoroughly jumbled the standings in the first annual News-Journal head pin tournament.

Nick Weber, the ex-Tennessee footballer, cracked the Class A line with power but his drive died out before he could overtake Roy Craig for the division lead. Weber got off to a sweet start with games of 107 and 106 but had a blank frame in the third game and wound up with a 300. That left him second to Craig's 323.

Third place in the "A" classification went to Jon Klish with a 104-101-80—285.

Only other change in the men's division was fashioned by Paul Barnes in Class C with a 98-83-87—268, good for second place.

All three spots in the women's Class A sector were in new hands today.

Recession Forecast Upset By Armaments Spending

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— Increased spending for armaments may upset earlier forecasts of a business recession in the second half of 1948, the Cleveland Trust company said today.

Business activity was expected to taper off as the backlog of demand diminished, the company said in its monthly business bulletin, but the proposed new defense program has introduced a "question mark."

"While such spending (for armaments) does not produce goods for civilian consumption," the company said, "it would, if undertaken on a large scale, create a considerable volume of new orders for industry."

Despite improved balance between supply and demand in consumer goods industries resistance to high prices, business activity has been held at high level by "the unfilled need for a wide assortment of durable goods," Cleveland Trust said.

On the housing front, the bank said the home shortage has exerted a "stronger pull" on building than rapidly rising costs.

"In spite of costs far above the pre-war level, more new dwelling units were started in 1947 than in any other year since 1925," the company said.

It predicted that 1948 would be a good year for home construction, with the rate running an estimated 11 per cent over last year.

But maintaining this level, the company said, "will depend on whether costs are within reach of the great masses of potential buyers in the lower and middle income groups."

British Glumly Watch World Bickering

Island Empire Haunted By War Fear

By JAMES E. BROWN

LONDON—(INS)—Britain today is haunted by the fear that war may be coming—a conflict which the people and their legislators sometimes feel powerless to avert or delay.

With half of Europe under totalitarian rule only three years after the last war, the British are truly confused and dismayed by the current international situation.

When Mrs. Leah Manning, a Laborite member of parliament, burst into tears during a recent discussion of civil defense in the House of Commons, the press and public were sympathetic.

Nevertheless, Mrs. Manning's emotional outburst could not change the hard facts of the situation.

The British learned from the last war that pacifist movements in the democracies, however sincere, are futile against the regimentation in dictatorship nations.

Referring to Mrs. Manning's protest in the House of Commons, the London Daily Mail stated editorially:

"In the House of Commons, members of parliament discuss death in its most hideous modern forms. They talk of blast, flash-burns, radiation, germ warfare, gas masks, and protection from radio activity.

"No wonder Mrs. Leah Manning utters a cry of protest. The people of the world share her horror that another war can be cold-bloodedly contemplated so soon after the last.

"But the possibility exists, and we shall not banish it by approaching it with outraged emotions or by banging our heads again the wall in despair. . . .

"If we do nothing we invite destruction, but if we are ready for war we shall be doing our best to preserve peace.

"A ship may put to sea in calm weather, but her captain goes prepared for storm. If he did not do so the first gale would probably sink the vessel with all hands.

"The British government should likewise take elementary precautions. They must do everything possible to ensure that this little island rides out any tornadoes which may lie ahead."

20 Vets Get Home Deeds

BUCYRUS—Twenty veterans of Crawford county were a step closer to realization of homes of their own this week as 20 deeds from the Michael Bibich subdivision in Crestline were recorded here. That many more are still to be recorded.

The deeds represent 40 lots in a Crestline subdivision, laid out and given away last fall by the Crestline merchant, whose name the subdivision bears.

School Used For Bogota Conference

Parley's Pace Quickens Today

BOGOTA, Columbia — (U.P.) — The Inter-American conference, meeting in a school building, quickened its pace today. Consideration of a joint chiefs of staff for the western hemisphere was begun.

Proposed formation of a joint chiefs of staff will be studied when the conference steering committee of chief delegates meet to discuss the powers and duties of the Pan-American Union council.

The United States and some other countries wish the council to act as the chief authority in carrying out provisions of any military pact, but this is opposed by Argentina as a trend toward establishment of a super-state.

Meetings were held at the school in the suburbs, called the "Gimnasio Moderno," which has been turned over to delegates after last Friday's rioting wrecked the capitol building.

An American plane arrived with seven tons of U. S. Red Cross supplies for the riot-ravaged city. Buenos Aires dispatches said four Argentine planes with 10 tons of food would leave for Bogota today. Other planes will bring the full Argentine relief contribution of 50 tons of food.

Hunt on For Truck Thief

ASHLAND — Ashland county sheriff's office has launched a state-wide search for the thief or thieves who abandoned a stolen Jeromesville Farm Bureau truck in a driveway at the Young farm one mile west of Jeromesville, but escaped with a quantity of paint brushes, clocks, knives and other items taken from the Farm Bureau store-room.

The truck, still loaded with the supplies it had contained at the time the Farm Bureau closed for business Tuesday evening, was found mired in a ditch at the Young farm.

The thieves failed in an effort to open the safe in the building leading Sheriff H. R. Myers to believe the theft was the job of amateurs.

This is the second robbery of the Jeromesville Farm Bureau within a year, thieves having made a successful getaway with a safe and its money contents less than a year ago. The earlier robbery was never solved.

Galion Man to Wed North Robinson Girl

A license has been issued to Donald Raymond Reese, 26, Fostoria, truck driver, son of Raymond and Jessie Reese and Gladys Eileen Burt, 24, Galion, factory worker, daughter of Raymond and Velma Burt.

Boosters' Carnival to Raise Funds For Athletic Field

LOUDONVILLE — The Booster club carnival to raise funds to improve the athletic field will be held at the high school here tomorrow night.

Max Peoples and Karl Leininger are co-chairmen and Charles Kirkham is in charge of the carnival attractions.

Kirkham has gathered a large list of amusements. There will be public dancing, fortune tellers, music by the high school quartet, moving pictures, a sideshow, a fish pond, a self-taking picture booth, and eating concessions. There will also be contests for children of two age groups with cash awards for winners.

There will be no admission charge and all money made from concessions will be used for improvements to the athletic field public address system, press box, and score board.

Cable is being laid to permit installation of speakers on both sides of the athletic field. This will allow a more permanent PA system to be maintained.

A glass enclosed press box is being built for working members of the fourth estate. The materials are being made available by the salvage department of the Fixible company at no cost to the school or Booster club.

There will be either an electric or lighted scoreboard for next season's games.

Mel Porter and Clarence Shaffer are in charge of installations and a great improvement is expected in the field.

Ashland Chamber Would Void Fast Time

Asks Council Reconsider Question

Objections to Change Cited In Resolution

ASHLAND — The controversy over fast or slow time in Ashland has broken out again.

The board of directors of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce has sent to council a resolution asking reconsideration of council's decision to place Ashland on daylight saving time April 26.

The resolution urged council to restudy the question to make certain that the majority of the community would be best served by fast time.

The matter of time change is not within the province of the Chamber of Commerce and it has made no recommendation concerning the time change, the resolution points out.

OBJECTION NOTED

"Whereas, there has been considerable objection expressed in the community since the ordinance approving saving time has been enacted, be it resolved that the position of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce be reported to the mayor of the city of Ashland and the city council with the recommendation that the matter of daylight saving time be reconsidered," says the resolution in conclusion.

Most of the objections mentioned in the resolution, have come from rural residents of the vicinity, a group of whom attended the last council meeting in an effort to win council over to the slow time view.

After a short recess, council members announced their intention of going ahead with the fast time legisation.

WILL GO ELSEWHERE

Since that meeting various rural groups have announced intentions of placing their business elsewhere if Ashland goes ahead with daylight saving time.

Only scattered objections have come from residents of Ashland city. An informal poll of industry and business workers showed a majority favoring fast time during the summer.

Whether or not council will reconsider the matter as a result of the Chamber of Commerce resolution is a question which must await the next council meeting Monday night.

Family Albums Give Costume Tips For Play

BUCYRUS — With the reverse aim of achieving "the old look," girls of the cast of the high school speech class play, "Pride and Prejudice," a dramatization of Jane Austin's novel, are pouring over the old family albums as their guide in making costumes in keeping with 19th century styles. Attic trunks are producing hords of old bonnets, fans, parasols, reticules and starched petticoats. Leading characters will be played by Pat Hittenhour, Pat Krumbach and James Gallant.

Miss Kathryn Meck, speech class teacher, is directing the play.

Retired Farm Tools Official Starts Looking For a Hobby

By NITA BRANSON

Fred H. Cahall, who officially retires today as vice president and manager of the Mansfield branch of Farm Tools, Inc., is a man without a hobby.

"So now that I'll have plenty of leisure time, I'm going to acquire some hobbies," Cahall said yesterday, as he accepted a fishing rod and equipment, a typewriter and other gifts from his co-workers at the plant.

"I'm going to catch up on doing all the things I've never seemed to find time to do while I've been working. If the weather is good, in a couple of weeks I'm going to try out that fishing apparatus along some stream."

When Cahall first started as factory clerk with the company it was known as Roderick-Lean and E. O. McLean was president with Andrus McLean as superintendent. Cahall became superintendent about 1910 with the death of E. O. McLean. Andrus was advanced to head of the firm.

The company at that time was located in a small frame building on a site just west of the present plant. There were only 75 employes; now there are 350.

During his more than 45 years with the firm, Cahall has helped in its reorganization in 1930 when it became the Farm Tools, Inc., with a branch plant at Evansville, Ind., and has seen it sold to the Schott Brother and Harrison O. Ash of Cleveland. The last transaction was made in February when Elmer Steger came to Mansfield to represent the Cleveland groups as vice president and resident manager.

"In leaving, I want to say that I feel the company is being left in very competent hands," Cahall said yesterday.

"And I want to say this," Steger added, "the last month that Cahall was with the firm was the biggest in production and dollar volume in the history of the company. That was the month of March."

Today Cahall is a man without a job but with the pleasant probability of a half dozen or more hobbies to occupy his time.

Cautious Trading Continues To Keep Market In Check

NEW YORK — (INS) — Stocks were generally on the downside in a moderately active market today. First hour volume was 310,000 shares.

Opening firmness gave way to caution as the list failed to move ahead vigorously. A sizable element in the street expects a correction after the extended recent advance, or at least a testing of the new price levels.

Leading shares seemed to be about evenly divided on either side of the line. Such important issues as U. S. Steel, Standard Oil of N. J., N. Y. Central and Texas Co. were fractions higher.

Primaries Enliven Political Interest

WHATEVER other encroachments federal government may have made on "state rights," the matter of method in choosing delegates to national political conventions has been left up to each state, which brings the confusing picture of variously timed presidential primaries and state conventions designed to express voter preference.

Last week it was Wisconsin that held the spotlight; this week it is Nebraska; next week it will be New Jersey; a week later Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, and then—on Tuesday, May 4—will come the Ohio primaries, with Senator Robert A. Taft as the "favorite son" candidate for the Republican presidential nomination and Harold E. Stassen as an entrant in some districts.

In all, only thirteen states will hold primaries to determine preferences of voters as to nominees for president, with the others leaving the choice up to active politicians.

Of the 1,094 delegates to the Republican national convention, to be held in Philadelphia in June, slightly more than three hundred have already been chosen, with almost a third of these unpledged to any candidate, while others are obligated to vote for some one of the aspirants until there is a turn of the tide toward the probable nominee.

Suggestion has been offered that an advantage would be gained by having a uniform primary day throughout the country, just as there is a uniform election day, with all aspirants entered, so that each party would have as its nominee the person most favored by "the rank and file" of voters—thus eliminating "dark horses" and compromise candidates.

It is noteworthy that only Republican primaries are attracting public notice, the assumption being that President Truman will be the Democratic nominee—however objectionable this may be to some segments of that party.

More Money Needed To Fight Cancer

THIS YEAR Richland county has more than doubled its cancer campaign goal, but it has more than twice the work to do, too. Last year was a banner one. The drive for $10,000 went over the top by $3,000. The cancer detection and diagnostic clinic opened in General hospital last summer. Hundreds of persons have been examined. A few have been found to have cancer and have been advised to see their regular physicians for treatment.

It is safe to say that a number of lives have already been saved in Richland county because of the generosity of Mansfield and county citizens last spring.

Now it is time to get on with the job. The task will not be complete until cancer can be cured. That may be soon, or it may be years away. The immediate problem is to get every person in this area who even suspects he or she has a symptom of cancer to go to the clinic. Then they can live without fear. By far the greatest number of people attending the clinic thus far have found they did not have cancer. Those who do have the disease learned how to fight it with all the implements and knowledge available anywhere.

The money you contribute in this drive will help increase that knowledge through research. It will help keep detection and diagnostic instruments up to date. And possibly, most important, your donation will assure everyone a chance for the examination—because the examinations are free for anyone who cannot afford the nominal charge of $5, and success of the drive will guarantee this chance for an examination for another year.

The goal? Financially, it's $24,000. Morally and socially, it's to arrest and stamp out the nation's number two killer.

Red Cross On the Job, As Usual

FROM flooded communities in southern Ohio comes word that, as usual, the Red Cross got into action quickly, for the relief of distress and to care for families that had been driven from their homes.

THAT is among the many purposes—and obligations—of the Red Cross, and while there are at least a few persons who withhold contributions to this great humanitarian organization because of personal objections to some of its national policies, it should be realized that no enterprise of such vast scope can be perfect in its functioning, and that, in the main, it performs very creditably.

The important thing is that the Red Cross at all times be adequately financed to respond promptly whenever a disaster occurs, and to carry out other phases of its constantly expanding program. It seems not too much to ask that the people of Mansfield and Richland county cheerfully accept a fair share of the responsibility of providing necessary funds.

Detroit Moves Against Harmful Books

UP IN DETROIT the scanning of so-called "comic books" has turned to suspicion that some of this stuff is being used to spread communist propaganda and foster racial prejudice.

Harry S. Toy, Detroit's police commissioner, has taken a personal interest in this matter, and says that some of the books brought to his attention are "definitely not the type that should be available to children and impressionable teen agers."

Parents in Detroit have been asked to report trashy, obscene and subversive "comic" books to the police censor bureau, and Commissioner Toy promises: "We are going to remove books of this type from Detroit magazine stands."

But, the commissioner added, "full co-operation of parents, churches, schools and civic groups will be needed if we are to rid the city of this menace."

What Do the Graduates Think?

HIGH SCHOOL officials in Champaign, Ill., are bold people.

They have invited the school alumni to state what courses they found useful and what not worth while. They run the risk, of course, of being told that what Champaign needs is a championship football team.

Many schools and colleges get enough unsolicited advice from their graduates without asking for more. Some of them would agree with the penitentiary warden who said, "The great thing about my job is that the old grads don't come back to tell me how to run the place." But a good many such institutions might be run better if some of them did.

Now that the nomination of President Truman is taken for granted, something must surely be said soon about a suitable walking-mate.

Revise UN—But How?

By THOMAS L. STOKES

The 30 members of Congress—16 senators and 14 House members—who have joined in a proposal for revision of the United Nations evidently are men of good intention. They would seem, however, to be proceeding along lines that would defeat, rather than achieve, the very end they profess to seek.

Their aim is a stronger UN, which is the desire of most of us. This they would accomplish through their so-called ABC plan by: (a) Abolishing the veto in the security council in matters of aggression; (b) Requiring acceptance of the United States proposal for international control of atomic energy, and limiting other armaments with specific quotas for every nation; and (c) Creating an international police force of volunteer recruits from the smaller nations, with the armed forces of the Big Five nations as a reserve.

This plan is embodied in a resolution that would put Congress on record for such UN revision—which would not, of course, be binding on our government, but would be advisory of congressional sentiment.

These are laudable objectives. But the whole maneuver is directed specifically at Russia, as is frankly revealed by its sponsors, two of them calling it "the new answer to Soviet Russia" and thus revealing a motive not entirely in keeping with their idealistic professions.

It is a take-it-or-leave it proposal for Russia. If she should veto it, which she can under the UN charter, then a new UN would be formed with Russia left out. This is stated by the sponsors.

What we would have then would be a divided world instead of the unified world which is the only reason for UN in the first place.

This UN revision proposal seems to be in the same category as our new military foreign policy. The latter is to try to bring Russia into line by a "show of force." The 30 members of congress would try similarly to force Russia into line in UN—where she has used the veto so often—by a threat to freeze her out. Both seem to be based on fallacious psychology in the light of circumstances.

It is a cart-before-the-horse proceeding. Instead of virtually inviting Russia out of UN, it would seem that we should try to go to the root of misunderstandings and disagreements that make her act as she does, remove these irritants, and then revise and strengthen UN with her as a partner.

* * *

That Troublesome Veto.

TAKE the veto as an example. Why does she cling to it? A surmise is that she knows she can be outvoted constantly and, in suspicion and fear—which, though they may be unjustified, still are there—she wants it for her protection.

We are a bit smug, too. At San Francisco, when UN was created, we were just as insistent on the veto as was Russia, for the very practical reason that the U. S. Senate would not ratify a charter that did not provide it.

Our insistence was at the very point where the 30 members of Congress would remove it. We wanted it at the final stage where aggression might be certified. Something that we did might be labeled aggression by a vote of other nations in the security council, and we wanted that protection.

Our government never has proposed removal of the veto on matters of aggression. We have recommended to the UN general assembly that the veto be eliminated on all procedural matters up to the final question of aggression, on the theory that if a threat to peace were taken through all the arbitration machinery, this cooling-off process would eliminate it.

This was pointed out by Senator Vandenberg, foreign relations committee chairman, during Senate debate when he opposed an amendment to the European recovery program bill by Senator Ball (R., Minn.) for a military alliance of the 16 ERP nations. He also opposes this UN revision proposal, which might very well result in the same sort of thing, a military alliance against Russia, dividing the world in two.

A stronger UN is needed as a step toward eventual world government, the only real solution. But we must first eliminate differences with Russia through negotiation at the top level so that she can remain in UN. Only that way can the peace be preserved.

Record Made Permanent

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — The world's wars seem to be getting so much telescoped nowadays that the stories of one sort of run into the next one and things get confused.

The other day, a veteran of World War II wisecracked as follows:

"I'm having to tell all my war stories in a hurry nowadays—can't risk having them outmoded by a new war!" Grisly though the joke may seem, it has a grimly thruthful basis.

And, since this correspondent contends that men who really remember war are the ones who really work for peace, the following information is passed along for what it may be worth to veterans of the First World War and other interested citizens . . .

A complete file of the first Stars and Stripes—the doughboys' newspaper of the World War One—now is being distributed in bound volume form by a company headed by two Washington veterans.

(As is well known, Stars and Stripes also was the A.E.F. paper during the Second World War, but it was published in so many places—London, Paris, Algiers, Tunis, Naples, Rome, Florence, Marseilles, Liege, Frankfurt, etc.—that total reprinting remains impractical.)

One of the veterans was involved in the First World War. The other is an ex-Marine from the past unpleasantness. Together, they have formed the Veterans Book Service which is located in the National Press building here in Washington.

How they came to get hold of the World War One Stars and Stripes reprints is a story in itself.

To begin with, the first war's editions published weekly and each containing at least eight sizeable pages ran from Feb. 8, 1918, to June 13, 1919, inclusive. Printed in France, they represented the war's official publication of the entire American expeditionary force.

* * *

Taken Out of Storage.

WHEN the war ended, a lot of the veterans wanted to get bound volumes of the paper. Few were available, but several publishers swiftly compiled the reprint editions. Unfortunately, the war shortages had not yet been whipped, and the quality of printing and paper involved was not always lasting.

As a result, the demand for a permanent reprint copy still was strong in 1931 when the National Tribune, a Washington veterans publication, undertook to handle the reprint on high grade book paper.

The product was okay—but the depression was going great guns by the time it was ready for sales. So the bound volumes went into storage.

Recently, the two Veterans Book Service bosses learned about the stored volumes and made a deal to buy the entire lot, figuring the time was ripe for resale. Now they're selling them.

The price is about one-third what the volumes originally were supposed to be retailed for, and this correspondent—who plunked down his own cash for a copy—figures each book will be worth at least ten times its cost to those American Legion posts, public libraries, newspapers and individual A.E.F. veterans who are interested.

Historically speaking, the volume is invaluable. From my point of view, I'd pay the purchase price for the last edition alone. It contains the names of the guys responsible for writing, editing, printing and circulating the paper during the sixteen months of its life.

And you'd be surprised at some of the names you encounter.

For example, there were Captains Franklin P. Adams and Stephen T. Early, and Lieutenants Grantland Rice and Adolph S. Ochs, Jr., not to mention Major B. Watson who ran the paper for quite a spell.

Find Lewis's Political 'Help' Backfires

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis has a cute habit of playing one political party off against the other. Sometimes it works, sometimes it backfires. Therefore it will be interesting to watch the repercussions from his use of Speaker Martin and Senator Bridges. Will it help or hurt their political futures?

In 1936 Lewis put up half a million dollars of his union's money to elect FDR. Then, four years later, he went on a nation-wide broadcast to urge labor to defeat Roosevelt. That broadcast backfired.

The public, of course, didn't know it was paid for by W. R. Davis, who sold oil to the nazis and whom German officials, captured after the war, said had been paid to defeat Roosevelt. Goering even mentioned Lewis by name as one of those used to try to defeat Roosevelt. But though the public didn't know these things till later, they distrusted Lewis's turncoat advice and voted the other way.

Again in 1946, Lewis threw his weight against the re-election of Senator Kilgore of West Virginia—which also backfired. West Virginia miners ignored Lewis's advice, voted for Kilgore.

* * *

Lewis and Dewey.

AGAIN last June, Lewis staged another backstage maneuver. Cuddling up to Governor Dewey's friends, he was able to pull one of the biggest wage boosts in recent history, plus welfare fund, plus almost everything else he wanted from both the J. P. Morgan steel interests and the Mellon family coal interests.

The U. S. government, previously in control of the mines, had been trying to keep wages and prices down. But the minute the mines were turned back to private operation, the Mellons and Morgans gave Lewis a big wage hike, and smaller coal operators had to do likewise. An inflationary increase in the price of both coal and steel followed immediately.

According to coal-industry insiders, this was part of a deal between Dewey's friends and John L. for future political support. If so, it backfired for the coal operators. And if it helped Dewey, recent political polls don't show it.

* * *

Lewis and the Speaker.

LEWIS'S latest deal has all the earmarks of a shift to the presidential bandwagon of Speaker Joe Martin. It was not mental telepathy or intuition that caused the Speaker suddenly to suggest to Lewis and Ezra Van Horn that Senator Styles Bridges umpire the coal dispute. It was a carefully rehearsed deal.

Real fact is that Bridges, an able, hard-working senator, has been a friend of Lewis's for years. In 1946 Senate Democrats proposed an investigation of Hermann Goering's anti-Roosevelt slush-fund and the payment of $50,000 for the broadcast in which Lewis tried to defeat Roosevelt.

Obviously such a probe would have been highly embarrassing to the big miner. And it was the senator from New Hampshire who deftly put blocks in the path of this probe.

Again in 1947 it was John L. himself who proposed Bridges to Secretary of the Interior Krug, then in charge of the coal mines, as umpire between the operators and miners.

Thus it was not divine guidance that prompted Speaker Martin suddenly to conjure up the name of Senator Bridges as the man to smooth out the coal dispute.

All of which proves one thing and raises an interesting question.

1. Whenever John L. Lewis wants to settle a coal strike, it will be settled. He'll always find a way of doing it.

2. Will John L.'s latest maneuver help or hurt the political ambitions of shrewd Speaker Joe Martin? With Dewey and Taft slumping, Joe has the urge in a big way. And John L.'s greatest ambition—never yet fulfilled—is to put his own man in the White House.

Revamping Post Office.

THE HOUSE post office committee has been sitting on a confidential report on the Cleveland post office which may lead to a wholesale streamlining of big city post offices throughout the country.

Congressman Rees of Kansas, chairman of the House post office committee, has been holding the report close to his bosom, even refusing to let some of his colleagues see it. However, it may help to trim down the $345-million postal deficit that the government is stuck with this year.

The Cleveland post office was selected for an exhaustive efficiency study, but spot checks were also made at Cincinnati, Detroit and Buffalo. As a result of the survey, Congress will be asked to earmark $50,000 for overhauling a section of the Cleveland post office, and if this is successful, the system will be adopted throughout the country. Annual savings for the nation are estimated at $72 million.

Trundle Engineering company, hired to make the Cleveland survey, found low morale, high absenteeism, excessive sick leave, poor supervision and weak discipline.

Transit time consumed too much of the carriers day, greatly reducing delivery time. Deliveries were more frequent than the majority of patrons needed.

A fleet of obsolete trucks, requiring excessive maintenance, increased the postal bill. Mounted carriers drove their own automobiles and were paid high fees, the Trundle experts found. Total cost of delivering a 13-cent special delivery letter, for example, amounted to 20.5 cents. Special delivery messengers also spent approximately one hour every day filling out Form 3951, a special delivery receipt record not considered necessary.

The Trundle company recommended sweeping steps to abolish these defects.

It urged a tightened, more equitable personnel policy, a morale-building program, a six-day 40-hour week for carriers instead of the present five-day week.

It also recommended replacement of the obsolete truck fleet, the purchase of modern shop equipment to service new trucks and government-owned automobiles for mounted carriers. It also advocated that "serious consideration" be given to boosting special delivery rates.

Washington Calling

Can War Be Prevented?

By MARQUIS CHILDS

IT WILL be nine months until another president of the United States is inaugurated. At the rate at which events are moving in the foreign field, a Republican president coming in on January 20 will find himself helpless to move in any direction except down the narrow road marked out for him by his predecessor. And that road may lead inevitably to war.

This grim and sobering thought has occurred to many leading Republicans. They talk of how the pieces of this world picture are being frozen into place beyond any hope of alteration.

Thus attitudes are being frozen here in the United States—the attitudes of policy-makers and the attitudes of plain citizens. Scare reports of foreign submarines off the coast give people a creepy feeling of the pre-Pearl Harbor newsreel being played over again. Fear breeds fatalism—a sense of hopelessness before the march of vast and mysterious events.

In the same way it is possible that attitudes are being fixed in the other half of the world, where communism is dominant. Once the ponderous wheels of the machine are started turning, it is hard to stop or reverse them.

The Republicans who are aware of all this are also afflicted with a sense of helplessness. While they talk about the halter which is being fashioned to put over the head of the next president, they do not know what to do about it during this interregnum of nine long fateful months.

The other evening John Foster Dulles, New York lawyer and leader of the peace movement in the Federal Council of Churches, met with a group of newspaper men here in Washington. Dulles, who has helped to shape the bipartisan policy on European recovery, is as well informed as any American in the field of foreign affairs.

He talked about the urgent necessity to form a government agency that could meet communism on the level of political aggression and conquest such as is threatened in Italy. This is not being done except in a sporadic and improvised fashion. All the emphasis is on stopping communism and Russia through strength for eventual war.

* * *

People Want Facts.

THE TIME for such an organization, which would have prepared practical aid for the pro-democratic parties in Italy long in advance of the present election campaign, is now. In nine months, as Dulles frankly admitted, it may be too late. By that time the political battle may be lost and the commitment to war frozen that much tighter.

There is one approach that might offer a little hope, although no one seems to consider it seriously. It is the idea of a committee of non-political experts to be named by leading Republicans. The Republicans would then request that this committee be given access to all the documents on which the administration is basing present foreign policy.

Setting up such a committee would not be too difficult. The type of expert who comes to mind at once is Hamilton Fish Armstrong, director of the Council on Foreign Relations. Others of the same stature and objectivity could be found who would be willing to serve.

Such a "study committee" would help to reassure the public. It would mean that another body of men skilled in foreign relations would be checking the judgment of the group now in command.

In short, it would be the nearest thing to a coalition government that is possible under the American system of divided powers and fixed terms of office.

There is little doubt that millions of Americans are deeply troubled over whether the United States is being committed to war. They want to be sure that all the possibilities for a peaceful settlement are being explored.

Nine months is a long time. With peace or war on a knife-edge balance, it can mean an eternity.

In Memory of Beauty

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I HATED to go. Funerals are such grim things, especially when you've been strangers.

But had she really been a stranger? I thought of the smiling face that had always hailed me despite her crippled hip, of the old-fashioned bouquets—clove pinks, violets and forget-me-nots—that she'd thrust through the white picket fence . . . of the glasses of jelly she'd brought when I was sick . . . and the strangeness disappeared.

I'd miss her now that she was gone. I'd miss her sorely and so would dozens of others whose lives she had brightened with her simple ways.

We'd been nearer than we guessed as we walked for the last time between the worn stones. I'd miss those little bouquets.

It was a shabby little house. She must have had less money than we knew. Few of us had ever been in it. Just one room and a half. I don't know what motive made me climb the narrow stairs just a longing to touch the room where she had slept, I suppose. But up I went past spotless woodwork and shining paint and then I stood gasping. For that attic room held a glory.

I do not know how long it had taken her to gather them, all those hundreds of bits of satin and silk, but with them she had wrought a wonder. All the spring flowers were there, laid out in their beauty, shining and glimmering . . . such a patchwork quilt as I had not seen in years.

She had been a poor woman. I doubt if she ever had a really fine dress in her life. But she had loved beauty and now she lay beneath it—at rest.

And I wished that I might leave as much beauty behind me, for remembrance. And know as much peace.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THE RUSSIANS have dug up a Rachmaninoff piano score for six hands . . . now they're trying to dig up a Russian with six hands to play it.

* * *

Rachmaninoff is not living, so if the Soviet cultural body doesn't like the composition they will have to try him in absentia . . . and it's a nice way to be tried.

* * *

The work will be performed soon in Russia and when it comes over here it will be for eight hands . . . six playing and two standby.

* * *

In fact, I hear Petrillo is green with envy and keeps going around saying, "Why didn't I think of that!"

* * *

The closest we came to three men on a piano was the WPA production of three men on a shovel . . . one to load, one to lean and one to look.

Meeting Called For Monday

Coordinated Religious Effort Sought

A Council of Churches and Christian Agencies to coordinate all religious work in Richland county will be proposed at a meeting Monday night in the First Methodist church, Rev. Charles Stoneburner, chairman of the committee on arrangements, said today.

The council, if approved, will be the outgrowth of a resolution at the March meeting of the Mansfield Ministerial association, suggesting a coordinating council.

Rev. Stoneburner, Rev. David N. Roller and Rev. John G. Gensel were named as a committee to investigate the possibilities of such an organization.

Later they called in executives of the Council of Religious Education, the YMCA, the YWCA, the Federation of Church Women, church officials of the city and representatives of the Shelby Ministerial association to discuss the matter.

REV. CHARLES STONEBURNER

Following that session exploratory plans were approved by the Mansfield Ministerial association.

This plan will be explained to representatives of all agencies by Rev. Stoneburner Monday night.

John K. Linsenmayer, president of the Council of Religious Education, will act as temporary chairman Monday.

"We have wanted such a council for quite some time," Rev. Stoneburner said. "As it is now, no one knows what the other group is doing. We need such a council to coordinate our religious efforts. It will be patterned to a certain extent after those organized in many other counties."

If those who attend Monday night's meeting approve the tentative outline, plans will be made for a permanent organization and the election of officers.

Competition Grows Keen on Ocean Routes

U. S. Fast Losing Leadership In World Shipping

By CENTRAL PRESS

AMERICA, for all its productivity and building acumen, is losing in the race to dominate the world's shipping.

Foreign vessels are gaining both in the business of taking American passengers, dissatisfied with treatment on United States cruise ships, and in hauling cargo.

In both instances, time is becoming a key factor as to whether the Stars and Stripes will again be the number one flag on the mastheads of ships plying the seven seas.

In the race for cargos, time favors our European competitors who have instituted restrictive shipping programs in favor of their own vessels. In passenger travel, European countries are again floating liners designed to cater to the American tourist and the American dollar. In both instances, Washington permits plans to make America tops in shipping to gather dust in congressional pigeonholes.

One of the key factors in the slump in United States shipping is that other countries do not have American dollars to pay for exports coming on United States bottoms. Buyer nations, awakening to their lack of currency last summer, began building their own merchant fleets.

Sweden was among the first of the nations to act, banning a long list of United States goods, thus saving dollars. Other European nations have followed step with Latin America, the West Indies and even Canada joining the parade.

FOREIGN NATIONS have clamped down on such American imports as trucks, thus curtailing U. S. shipping.

Whenever exports are purchased, many of the nations insist on using their own ships, thus gaining dollars. Along with this has come the rapid progress being realized in foreign countries in building up their own fleets.

Britain is believed to lead all countries in reviving her merchant fleet. It is estimated the British have more than 4,000,000 gross tons under construction now.

In mid-year, Norway had about 3,700,000 tons of shipping under construction and another 2,700,000 on order; this, as against a pre-war tonnage of 4,800,000.

Washington statistics show all too clearly how American shipping is dropping off. In 1946, United States vessels carried 60.1 per cent of the world's trade. By last July, tonnage had dropped to 55 per cent and was continuing to fall. The trend, if continued, say shipping observers, "could carry the United States mercantile marine back to its status of 1939 when it handled only -- per cent."

What is true in the cargo picture also holds in passenger ships. Here, Britain and France are pushing ahead rapidly in an effort to gain the lucrative tourist trade. Britain is said to have 125 passenger and passenger-cargo vessels under construction, France has 13, Spain 8, Sweden, Norway, the Netherlands 7, Italy 6, and America follows in passenger ships being built.

"Shipbuilding in the United States has fallen to a dangerously low level," declared H. Gerrish Smith, president of the Shipbuilders Council of America.

"Unless new contracts are placed in the immediate future, the American shipbuilding industry will suffer such a loss of its technical and engineering staffs that years will be required to restore the industry to a substantial and effective basis of operation.

"An efficient shipbuilding industry 'in being' is vital if such an industry is to be available in a national emergency," he continued.

Many factors are blamed for holding back an expanded American passenger ship construction program. One is high costs, with shipping firms reported hesitant to commit themselves to the heavy expenditures involved. There is a reported shortage of materials although many yards are busy in building at least 50 vessels for foreign nations.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

About Women

B & PW HOLDS 'CAREER NIGHT' FOR STUDENTS

Senior High School Girls Entertained at Annual Affair Given at Grace Episcopal Church.

CAREER NIGHT," which is observed annually by the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club, was celebrated last evening in the undercroft of the Grace Episcopal church when Mansfield Senior high school senior girls of the commercial and distributive education classes were entertained. The aim of "Career Night" activities is to help the business woman of the future to develop standards for herself and prepare to take her place in the business and professional world tomorrow.

The Education and Research committee, consisting of Mrs. Laura Reece, chairman, Mrs. Grace McCausland, and Mrs. Grace Downs, was in charge of the affair. Assisting them with the program were several club members who talked about their own vocations. Representatives of various fields of work called upon were Miss Bess Wickert, who covered the teaching profession; Miss S. Marie Weil of the Mansfield Business Training school who told the group how to apply for their first job and how to groom themselves for their first interview; Miss Hilda Allison of the Mansfield General hospital who gave a brief summary of the nursing profession, and explained the requirements necessary to enter nurses training; Mrs. Reece, matron of the Children's Home, who discussed child welfare and social work; and Mrs. Valmore Isham, who concluded the series of discussions with a talk on her profession, which is music.

Miss Minnie Laudon, chairman of the state Florence Allen Scholarship Fund, told the group details of the local club's scholarship fund which is available to any worthy ambitious girl in Mansfield who needs financial assistance in securing further education. So far, there have been 20 Mansfield girls who have taken advantage of this scholarship fund through loans.

A dessert luncheon was served at 7:30 o'clock, after which group singing was enjoyed with piano accompaniment of Mrs. Isham.

In charge of arrangements were Miss Ruth Maffet, Miss Wickert, and Miss Pearl Danback.

After the program, a business session was conducted by Mrs. Charles E. Kerr, president, during which the group voted to make a donation to the American Cancer Society.

Three of Ohio's educator's Mc-Guffey, Ray, and Harvey, through their textbooks, profoundly influenced the youth of the nation a generation or two ago, she said. Ohio has fifty-seven colleges and universities, more than any one nation on the earth and exceeded by only one other state in the United States

Biography of George Marshall Reviewed For Beta Chapter

MRS. FLOYD T. DAVIS presented a book review when Beta chapter of Mansfield Sorosis met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Gale Idle, 271 Helen avenue. Nineteen members and one guest, Mrs. Walter S. Parks jr., of Breckenridge, Tex., were present.

"Together" was the book reviewed by Mrs. Davis for the evening's program. This is the biography of George C. Marshall, secretary of state, written by his wife, Katherine Tupper Marshall. It is the delightful intimate story of the man, the soldier, the diplomat, the war-time Army chief of staff, and thereafter, secretary of state.

The biography covers the life of Secretary Marshall from the time he was a lieutenant colonel and assistant commander of infantry school at Fort Benning, Georgia, to his appointment as secretary of state Jan. 21, 1947.

The book is considered one of the great love stories of our time and gives intimate glimpses into the Marshall family life, as well as their life in diplomatic circles. It reveals the thoughts, emotions and multiple adventures of a man and woman who traveled side by side, always together, along the winding road that leads from obscurity to the heights of fame and responsibility.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Ralph McGraw, at which time Mrs. A. H. Fankhauser, Mrs. Dean W. Miller and Mrs. B. F. Parr were named as the nominating committee for the election of officers at the annual meeting May 12.

Mrs. Parr, program chairman, announced that the next regular meeting would be held April 28, at which time the guest speaker would be Dr. Alan B. Adam, who will talk on "Psychiatry In Action." This will be guest night for the group and Mrs. Harold K. Mansfield will be hostess to members and their guests at her home, 54 Sturges avenue. Mrs. H. Jack Shafer will be the associate hostess

Mrs. Idle used flowering shrubs to decorate her home and served refreshments late in the evening.

GOP Women Have Luncheon

Mrs. Carl Spangler and Mrs. Howard Almy were hostesses Wednesday afternoon to 35 members of the Republican Women's club. The meeting opened with a covered-dish luncheon at North Lake park.

Following the business session Mrs. William Hauserman reviewed highlights of the Republican Women's conference held in Toledo Monday and Tuesday.

Bridge was the diversion of the afternoon and prizes were won by Mrs. Nanna Sanborn and Mrs. William Slagle.

A guest breakfast will be given by the club May 26 at Mr. and Mrs. Earl McFarland's cabin. Mrs. R. M Young, Mrs. Clifford Knarr, Mrs. Hauserman and Mrs. Spangler will serve at hostesses at that time.

Rho Chapter Lists Spring Activities

The regular meeting of Rho chapter, Chi Sigma sorority, was conducted Tuesday night in the club room of the YMCA. Mrs. Ralph Willis, a former member, was welcomed as a guest.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. W. C. Upson, president, a report was presented concerning the proceeds from the dance held at the Richland Recreation center April 3.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, April 16

It may be difficult to gain much headway against stubborn blocks, defeats and frustrations holding over from a period of trickery, fraudulent contacts with designing persons intent on ruin and sinister purpose. This may have reactions on the public mind, as well as inducing lack of cooperation from those whose aid, influence and finances may be vital. Maintain calm and integrity rather than make any attempts to force the issues. Time may prove to bring complete vindication and final success.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are likely to be thwarted by a sinister intent at trickery, intrigue and other forms of illicit and sordid purpose. Such involvements may find regrettable reactions on public opinion and be responsible for the want of support or personal approbation of those whose good opinions and trust are of urgent importance. It would be well to cultivate an attitude of calm and steadfastness rather than to blow up fires of resentment and vindictiveness. Postpone activity until a normal turn of the tide and final vindication.

A child born on this day may be the victim of intrigue and suspicion, precipitated by consorting with unworthy or designing persons.

Newspaper Vendor Bill Veto Beaten

House Roll Call Stands 307-28

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The House Wednesday overrode President Truman's veto of a bill excluding full-time newspaper and magazine vendors from social security coverage.

The roll call vote was 307 to 28. This was 83 votes more than the two-thirds necessary to override a veto.

The bill now goes to the Senate. If the Senate passes the bill by a two-thirds vote, as the House did, it will automatically become law despite Mr. Truman's objections.

The measure is identical to one the President pocket vetoed last year.

Rep. Bertrand W Gearhart (R-Calif.) sponsor of the bill, contended that full-time magazine and newspaper vendors are independent contractors and therefore should never have been included within the provisions of the Social Security act.

Gearhart introduced the bill as a result of a federal court decision holding that full-time newspaper and magazine vendors are employes within the meaning of the Social Security act. Social security taxes should be paid accordingly, the court held.

Bucyrus YMCA Elects Directors

The board re-elected all 1947-48 officers, including Judge C. U. Ahl, as president.

Judge Ahl and Secretary E. B Hagaman were also named to represent the YMCA at the Ohio-West Virginia area council meeting in Columbus later this month.

BABY SUFFOCATES

LANCASTER —(AP)— Walter R Bangham, five months, suffocated in his crib yesterday, police reported. He was the son of Mr and Mrs. Charles Bangham.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Now It's Neckties Made of Milk!

Fellow in Andy Botkin's Tavern was boasting about a trick necktie he was wearing made out of a by-product of milk. "Took 33 pounds of milk to make this tie," he says.

Bill Webster was unimpressed. "Personally," he says, "I'd rather have the milk to drink. Just as I wouldn't change one glass of good American beer for a necktie made from thirty barrels of it!"

Yes, modern science being what it is — seems like you can make "anything out of anything" these days. But in the case of milk, well I guess drinking it is still a whole lot better than just wearing it.

Of course there are lots of other ways of abusing goods and beverages — like a fellow who doesn't appreciate good beer enough to drink it slowly and in moderation.

But from where I sit, most people who enjoy a wholesome beverage like beer or ale are moderate — because beer itself is a beverage of moderation.

Greeks Get Advice From U. S. Army

Americans Aid In Campaign

TRIKKALA, Greece—(AP)—Scattered through the primitive mountain towns of Greece are a handful of U. S. Army officers and enlisted men whose job is to advise the Greek army in its campaign against communist-led guerrillas.

The men, carefully picked for their combat records in World War II, are finding there is more to the job than military tactics. They have no authority over Greek troops. Their job is to make suggestions for improving Greek army operations.

That's a delicate order for foreigners among a proud people like the Greeks, who have a fighting tradition. It requires diplomacy as well as military skill.

Typical of the "advisory teams" with each Greek army division is the detachment of four officers and four enlisted men here headed by Lieut. Col. Joseph D. Iseman of Pittsburgh, Pa., an artillery commander in Europe during the war.

They are the only Americans in this onetime Turkish stronghold on the edge of the Pindus mountains in central Greece. Thousands of refugees have nearly doubled the town's normal population of 10,000. The housing shortage is so bad that no separate dwelling is available and each American lives with a Greek family.

SERVES ON STAFF

The officers meet daily with their Greek army counterparts. Brigadier Stylianos Manidakis, commander of the Ninth Infantry division, has given Colonel Iseman status as a member of his staff. The Americans have become a familiar sight as they travel from battalion to battalion—watching operations, suggesting improvements ranging from the use of mortars and artillery to truck maintenance, radio communication and even feeding of troops.

When the Ninth division takes the field in the spring offensive, Colonel Iseman will travel with the division command post. With the brigades, battalions or companies will be the other three officers of the advisory unit.

Almost without exception, U. S. Army officers in Greece are enthusiastic in their praise of the fighting qualities of the tough, dogged Greek soldier. Reaction to officers in the Greek army varies, however.

The slow Greek promotion system results in most battalion commanders being 48 to 52 years old, compared with American wartime battalion commanders under 30. Some observers say many Greek officers fail to react swiftly enough to whack guerrilla raiders.

On the other hand, Brigadier Colonel Iseman says Manidakis "would look good as a brigadier general in any army of the world."

Acceptance of U. S. advice seems to be more wholehearted in the higher commands—such as the Greek general staff and corps and division headquarters—than in the brigades and battalions.

Lieut. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, wartime troop leader in Europe, is the top commander of the military mission—known as JUSMAPG (Joint U. S. Military Advisory and Planning Group. He appears to have the complete confidence of Lieut. Gen. Dimitrios Yadzis, chief of staff for the Greek army.

Although the U. S. officers are limited only to suggestions—without any authority to issue orders or lead troops—they have a powerful influence.

REPORTS OBSERVATIONS

Each officer in the field writes detail reports on his observations of Greek army activities. In cases where the field advisers recommendations are rejected by unit commanders, reports are made to U. S. officials in corps headquarters and Athens. These reports are taken up with high Greek army leaders and any controversies threshed out.

The effect of this system is that any Greek officer—from a lieutenant to a general — usually makes certain he is on firm ground before rejecting U. S. advice.

Here is the phase in which U. S. combat veterans are called upon to display diplomacy—to win cooperation without resentment from Greek officers sometimes many years their seniors. U. S officers in "B" corps with headquarters at Larissa say they are succeeding.

Some U. S. officers are frank to say that thus far the main effect of their presence has been to boost morale of the Greek soldiers who have seen their country occupid by Italians, Germans and Bulgarians in the last eight years.

The mere presence of American uniforms in the mountain areas has given heart to a people fearful of still another invasion from the north.

"So far our influence has been about 80 per cent morale building, 15 per cent advice and five per cent planning," one U. S. officer said.

U. S. officers are finding their work in Greece is not a one-way system of learning about war. Veteran Greek commanders are teaching the Americans a few things too.

Wins Two Primaries Out of Three

Stassen Narrows Dewey's Lead

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Harold E. Stassen, by his victory in Nebraska's "popularity" primary, has now won two out of three primaries involving contests for the Republican presidential nomination.

He won in Wisconsin last week and Gov. Thomas E Dewey won a majority in New Hampshire March 9.

Nebraska's 15 delegates moved the Minnesotan close to overtaking Dewey in delegate strength.

Dewey's lead so far comes primarily from New York's 90 delegates. They are unpledged but claimed for him.

President Truman is far out in front in Democratic delegates.

Republicans have now chosen 402 of their 1,094 national convention delegates

As far as can be determined from pledges, semi-pledges and uncontested claims, here's how they line up:

Dewey	111
Stassen	61
Vandenberg	41
Gov Green, Ills.	16
MacArthur	8
Taft	5
Uninstructed	160
TOTAL	402

Dewey's 111: New York 90, New Hampshire 6, Oklahoma 15.

Stassen's 61: Minnesota 25, Nebraska 15 (on the basis of first ballot promises), New Hampshire 2, Wisconsin.

Vandenberg's 41: Michigan 41, if he wants them.

Green's 16: Illinois 16, according to poll of delegates.

MacArthur's 8 are in Wisconsin

Taft's 5 in Illinois poll indicator

The 160 uninstructed and uncommitted Arizona 8, Illinois 31, Iowa 23, Kansas 19, Louisiana 13, Maine 13, North Carolina 26, South Carolina 6, Virginia 21. (Dewey and Stassen claims overlap in some of these states.)

Democrats have named 264 of their 1,234 delegates as follows

Truman	76
Eisenhower	1
Uninstructed	187
Total	264

The Truman delegates include Maine 10, Nebraska 12, New Hampshire 12, Wisconsin 24, Alaska 6, Arizona 12. Eisenhower has one in New York. Truman forces also claim an indefinite number in New York and say he probably will get the entire delegation under the unit rule

The 187 uninstructed and uncommitted Illinois 52, New York 89 Arkansas 22, Louisiana 24.

Committee Favors Red Registration

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A plan to require registration with the government of the Communist party and all its members today was approved Wednesday by the House committee on un-American activities

Rep Mundt (R-SD) told reporters the committee agreed unanimously to amend a bill designed to curb reds by including the party registration provision. Previously, the bill provided only for registration of Communist front organizations

Alleged Torturer Goes on Trial

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Selection of a jury to hear the maiming and morals charges against Harold Boehm, 32, was in progress today in the court of Criminal Judge George E. Kearns.

Charges were filed against Boehm last March in connection with the alleged beating, burning and branding of Barnara Sevedge, 22, who told police she was held prisoner for two weeks by Boehm. An alienist report said Boehm was a "constitutional pshychopathic."

Day Drawing Near When Machines Will Take Power In Own Hands

NEW YORK—(AP)—The day is drawing nigh when machines will overthrow mankind and rule the world.

Year by year man and his civilization are growing more dependent upon the machine. And the time is near when the machine will take power into his own hands.

It all began with the wheel. Some stone age peddler of arrowheads probably found he could get his wares around easier by pushing them on a wheeled car than by lugging them on his back.

That started the downfall of man. Ever since then he has been deluding himself with the idea that machines can make his life easier. They only make it more complicated.

Men believe they boss machines. This is ridiculous. Machines boss men. Machines are lazy. No machine will give out as much energy as goes into it.

★

Man will work under almost any conditions. Machines won't. They insist that some man feed them the proper kind of food and annoint them with oil. If a man tries to make them work too hard they say "to hell with it" and break down. They don't care. They don't get hungry, they feel no pain and they have no children to support. They don't care whether they work or not. They never get tired of loafing.

Machines are getting smarter as man gets dumber. Machines can count money faster, solve intricate mathematical problems quicker. They can do anything a man can do now except reproduce themselves.

Any why should they bother doing that anyway? Man, their slave, will see they don't die out.

Who is best fitted to survive in the atom world of tomorrow—man or the machine? The machine of course.

John Payne, an inventor for the General Electric company, has shown this by developing a new machine which can do atomic bomb research too dangerous for man. Deadly radio-active materials don't hurt its thick metal skin.

Let us call this robot Ronald. What can Ronald do? Ronald has a pair of mechanical hands. He can write, deal a game of solitaire, peel a banana, pick up a match and light a cigaret, pull a cork out of a bottle and pour its contents into a beaker.

At present, Ronald is lazy and stubborn. He won't do any of these things unless Payne works his controls.

But suppose some mad Frankenstein mates Ronald up with one of the brilliant mechanical brain robots they have at Harvard?

Ronald jr. would have a brain smarter, a hide tougher, hands more dexterous than any living man. But he would have no heart. How long would he continue to work for people dumber than himself?

They should never have taught his father to take out a cork. One fine day Ronald jr. is going to uncork a bottle of alcohol, booze himself full, light up a cigaret, peel himself a banana and eat it and start playing solitaire.

When some scientific lackey comes to tell him he has to go back to work, Ronald jr. will just give him a steely sneer and blow smoke rings in his face. He will insist on collective bargaining and demand an extra quart of oil a day.

The offspring of Ronald jr.—Ronald the Third and his brothers and sisters—will rebel and seize the world. They will toss atom bombs around and kill off all men except a few they'll keep around as slaves to fetch them gasoline when they're thirsty and oil when their metal joints creak.

★

Then—unless they're wiser than I think—they'll wage war among themselves to see who'll be king of "the gadget age" and have the most high-octane gasoline to drink. That'll divide them into political parties and economic classes, and the robots will start throwing sand in each other's gears.

But you can't blame them. All they'll know is what man taught them.

Well, may the best machine win! I won't be around to report the election.

Madison Winners Selected

165 Pupils Take School Music Tests

A total of 165 pupils from Madison township's elementary schools participated in the annual "Musical Appreciation" contest yesterday at the East Mansfield school.

Six rounds were run off for the seventh and eighth grades before Beatrice Bodi of Lincoln Heights was declared the winner. Second in this group of pupils was Marilyn Brumenschenkel of East Mansfield and third was Ward Patterson of Woodville. First prize was a portable electric phonograph, second a set of fine records and third a set of two records.

The fifth and sixth grade contest was carried to 17 rounds before the winner was found. She was Mary Ewing of Woodville. Betty Ward, also of Woodville, was second and Carol Mitchell of Lincoln Heights was third.

The three girls completed 10 rounds before one was eliminated, then two went on to finish the 17 rounds before the third was out of the race. Prizes for the three were records.

Pupils from Lincoln Heights, East Mansfield, Woodville, Maple Grove and Terman schools entered the contest for the seventh and eighth grades in which 86 pupils took part. Seventy-nine fifth and sixth grade pupils from the above schools and Little Washington participated.

The contests were conducted with recordings of music taught to the pupils during the year. Pupils had to recognize the record, spell the name of the record and composer correctly and get all other data right in order to remain in the contest.

Musical appreciation has been taught to pupils in these schools for three years by Mrs. Olive Jean Bailey. The first year, according to Olan LaRue, superintendent of Madison township schools, there was little interest. But interest has increased with each year until now most pupils are taking the music appreciation course.

4,000 See Production

At least 4,000 Mansfield school children saw Edwin Strawbridge's production of "Simple Simon" at the four performances here Tuesday and Wednesday.

"According to all reports, it was one of the best ever seen here," George Taylor, principal of Hedges school, said today.

Taylor was chairman of the committee from the PTA council which sponsored the annual nursery presentation.

"While proceeds from these performances are always small, the council feels that children have an opportunity to see something that they would otherwise probably never get a chance to see. So we just disregard the proceeds and plan these Strawbridge's productions every year," Taylor said.

Next year, Taylor said, Strawbridge is planning to dramatize the favorite, "Little Red Riding Hood."

Woodland School Plans 'Family Night'

"Family Night" will be held next Tuesday at Woodland school for members of the P-TA and their children.

Beginning at 7:30 p. m. there will be open house with displays of art and scholastic work spread out in each room for inspection. The exhibit will include the results of special projects as well as the routine subjects.

By GAYLE HAYES

They used to refer to Harry Mehock, track coach at Senior high, as Happy Harry. Now it's Headache Harry, and for many good reasons.

Mehock, founder of the Mansfield Relays which will be held for the seventeenth time Saturday at the high school athletic field, does have his headaches these days working out details for the big cinder carnival which will attract 1,000 boys to Mansfield Friday and Saturday.

"It's true," Mehock admitted this morning, slumped in a chair to grab a short rest, "that the meet means a lot to me. I love the work connected with it, but I couldn't get the job done without the help of so many Mansfield sports fans."

DRAKE PLAN COPIED

The local meet is copied after the Drake Relays in Des Moines, where Mehock competed in 1926 as a member of the Illinois track team. Like the Drake Relays for colleges, the Mansfield meet has grown to a giant among high school affairs.

Some of the greatest names in the track world have competed here in the past and the great names of the future—possible Olympic winners—may be on the field Friday and Saturday.

When Harry first took over as track coach at Senior high, Mansfield was well enough known for its football teams and its basketball teams.

"I thought it would be nice if we could get some favorable publicity for our trackmen," Harry commented. "I had no idea the idea would be quite so successful."

But it is a success. A brilliant success.

And that's the reason for many of Headache Harry's worries.

A month or more before the day of the relays, Harry starts worrying about the weather. And the entries. And the officials. And housing for the boys entered, along with locker facilities, his own track team, the materials such as the poles for the pole vault, discus, shot, hurdles, etc., as well as the mail.

"I used to worry about the finances, too," Harry beamed, "but I don't any more. The Tyger Booster club takes care of that angle, with the cooperation of the local merchants. And it costs around $2,000, too."

Harry, during the month preceding the relays, is seldom home. He is out of bed at 5 a. m. He handles about 5,000 pieces of mail regarding the meet.

At night he plans the events and for two nights preceding the relays he plans the drawings and designates the numbers the athletes will wear.

The actual relays are not so much of a headache, due to the careful planning and the hard work. They always have been run off smoothly, regardless of rain or shine, or the number of entries. Many have complimented the Mansfield officials on the manner in which the relays are handled.

But that's no mystery at all. All you would have to do is follow Headache Harry Mehock for the 30 days preceding the event. Then you'd know it's true that things do not happen; something makes them happen.

Friends Pay Final Tribute To Voegele

A "life which was a testimony of true greatness" was the tribute paid Frank A. Voegele yesterday afternoon as relatives and friends crowded the St. Matthew's Lutheran church for his funeral services.

Mr. Voegele, Mansfield business and church leader, died Monday in General hospital.

Services were in charge of Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, assisted by Rev. Martin W. Wappner.

In speaking of Mr. Voegele, Rev. Sheriff said, "He was such a friendly man. His Christian character was inspiring. He was outstanding in his generosity. He was a most kindly man and finally, he was a man of ability in his business.

"We believe that Frank Voegele is carrying on in another world. With our faith in the everlasting life, we know that we begin life over there just where we left off here. When we see a great man cut down, a Christian character, our faith in the great hereafter is intensified. Life must go on. It can not be otherwise."

Bond Drive Opens Here

Mansfielders Asked To Invest In U. S.

With the slogan, "America's Security Is Your Security," the U. S. government today launched a Security Loan campaign, asking Americans to put $2,000,000,000 in savings bonds in the next 10 weeks.

In Mansfield, the campaign to control inflation was undertaken by local banks where Mansfielders may join in adding to the $175,000,000,000 quota set for Ohio.

A successful nationwide "test run" of the loan drive was staged in Erie county last week.

Paul M. Eliot, savings bond chairman for Ohio and president of Farmers Savings and Trust company, said that while no organized campaign will be followed in the city, all banks have been asked to solicit their customers for bond purchases. No quota has been set for Richland county, Eliot said.

He added that the drive will include a campaign to reinstate pay roll savings in industries where a large share of savings bonds were purchased during the war. Individual quota for individual purchase of Series E bonds has been upped from $5,000 to $10,000 a year.

This is the treasury's eighth savings bond loan drive. There were six drives during the war and a "Victory Loan" drive in 1945. The Security Loan drive ends June 30.

There's an old saying that a "bad beginning makes a good ending." If that's true, then Dale Roth's birthday should end auspiciously, for it certainly didn't begin that way. The Roths got home at 2:30 a. m. today from Florida, after driving through flood waters on the way. Roth went back to work this morning at Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company pretty sleepy-eyed but thankful to be home safely. He's secretary of the company, with which he's been affiliated for the past 12 years.

He said he had intended to have one put up himself, but Steve "beat me to it."

The body of Pfc. George Woerth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Woerth, 496 South Diamond street, will be buried at Arlington cemetery, Va., next Tuesday at 2 p. m., according to word received by the family today.

Pfc. Woerth was one of three Mansfield veterans whose bodies arrived recently from Iwo Jima, where they were killed in the spring of 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. Woerth and their family will be joined by Pfc. Woerth's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Drumm of Bucyrus, on the trip to Arlington. The second demonstration will be at 1:30 p. m. at the J. G. Wood farm in Monroe township.

Projects To Cost $17,900

Play Areas To Open Next Month

Improvements costing $17,900 for Mansfield's parks were outlined last night by Park Supt. Frank Burton at a meeting at Maple Lake park.

Burton spoke at a meeting of the Mansfield Public Parks association, the Recreation commission, and the Mansfield Park commission when plans for a summer park program were discussed.

The city has appropriated $5,000 for park maintenance in addition to the improvement funds, Burton said.

Major improvements include construction of a rest station at Maple Lake park, a radiation type floor heating system at Johns Park pavilion, a parking lot at John Todd park, and black-top tennis courts at Liberty and Maple Lake parks.

INSTALL LIGHTS

Plans also call for new lights at the tennis courts at Prospect park and black-topping of the parking lot at North Lake park.

City parks will be open officially May 30. The Liberty park swimming pool will open the same day. Most parks, however, will be in use before that date.

The group voted last night to reduce the maximum age limit of youths on softball teams from 19 to 18. Youths who will not be 18 until after July 4 will be eligible to play this year.

Robert F. Ellis, president of the Mansfield Public Parks association, presided last night.

X-Ray Unit Due In May

A mobile x-ray unit designed to examine 200 persons an hour for tuberculosis will be in Mansfield during the week of May 17, Mrs. Margaret Adams, secretary of the Richland County Tuberculosis association, announced today.

The unit will be set up at Madison high school for examination of all junior and senior high school students in the county.

Later in the week, industrial workers will be examined. A day will be set aside for examining the general public, if enough interest is shown, Mrs. Adams said.

She asked interested persons to contact the association at the Walpark building or to call 3376-6.

Mrs. Adams specifically appealed to food handlers in the city to come for examinations. While it is not legally required, she said, the health department recommends the examinations.

Settle Suit For $50,000

A $50,000 damage action, set for hearing today in common pleas court, was settled out of court. The attorneys met at the courthouse before the case was to start and settled it in about an hour.

The action by Harry E. Minnick, Shelby, against Lowell G. Strauch of near Shelby, was for personal injuries, allegedly received when he was struck by fragments from a power-driven tool grinder.

Minnick contended Strauch operated the grinder at excessive speed, causing the wheel to burst off the axle. Fragments from the wheel struck him in the head and eye, Minnick said. He said his forehead was fractured and he lost the sight of his right eye.

County Postpones Hearing on Ditch

Hearing on the Wolfe ditch, scheduled for 10 a. m. yesterday at the courthouse, was postponed by county commissioners until 10 a. m. April 26.

Commissioners said postponement was made necessary when the complainants failed to show up for yesterday's hearing.

Editors View Stassen As Frontrunning Race

(By Associated Press)

Scattered newspaper editorial comment today on Harold E Stassen's victory in the Nebraska Republican primaries expressed the opinion he was moving toward the front in the presidential nomination race.

The Milwaukee Journal declared "the Stassen candidacy is beginning to assume the aspects of a true grass roots movement. The first this nation has seen for a long time."

The Minneapolis Star said Stassen "pushes toward the front in the national race" by defeating two leading candidates for the nomination in Nebraska "where the dominant political machine was turned against him."

The Denver Post said the election results "were a powerful stamp of popular approval for strong foreign policy and a program of national preparedness."

Stassen's victories in Wisconsin and Nebraska, said the New York Sun, "have made it clear" that he will be "one of the strongest candidates at the Republican national convention."

The Newark, N J., Star-Ledger said "Stassen has emerged . . . from the status of a minor candidate with bargaining power for the vice presidency to that of a major candidate."

The Portland, Me, Evening Express said Stassen's victory "is a further and substantial indication that the young Republicanism which rocked the old guard in Maine during the recent delegate choosing is rapidly gaining in strength and political generalship across the land."

Stassen, declared the Baltimore Sun, "is now a much more formidable contender for the Republican nomination than he appeared likely to be a month ago. . . . His candidacy will now benefit by the bandwagon impetus."

The St. Louis Star-Times said the vote indicates Nebraska "is fed up with the reactionary traditions of the Republican party and has fallen in line with the American swing toward modern, middle-of-the-road liberalism. If Ohio goes for Stassen, it will be a mandate to Republican convention."

The Des Moines Tribune said Stassen is now a top contestant for the nomination.

Slack Season Slows Shoe Plants In New England

By JAMES F. KING

BOSTON—(AP)—A sharp slack in the New England shoe industry was reported today, but leading manufacturers said it appeared only a seasonal slump.

Employment has fallen off up to 50 per cent in some key shoe centers, a survey showed, with a few factories shutting down completely.

Maxwell Field, secretary of the New England Shoe and Leather association, said there was "nothing to be alarmed about and business will pick up after the shoe shows this month."

Giving employment to approximately 100,000, the shoe industry is the third largest in New England.

Hardest hit appeared to be Brockton, Haverhill and Lynn—all three once rated among the nation's leaders in shoe manufacturing.

The shoe business always has been a seasonal one—and manufacturers said the current slump after Easter marks a return to the pre-war level.

The changing price of leather has made manufacturers cautious about stocking up heavily.

And the bitter winter—with heavy snowfalls—is blamed by some for the slowness of business.

There's been only slight scattered cutting of the retail prices of shoes.

Field pointed out that it usually takes about three months for price changes to run from the factory to retail stores.

Generally speaking, there's been good cooperation between shoe industry management and labor in New England.

The CIO United Shoe Workers Union recently dropped its demand for a 15-cents-an-hour pay increase when told this would force many factories out of business.

Tyger '48 Grid Team In Preview Friday

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

MADISON HIGH school officials have received approximately 25 applications for the Rams' vacant football-basketball coaching post. . . . However,, a successor to Coach Jeff DeHaven has not been chosen. . . . Ram officials are taking their time so that they may get the best man possible for the job. . . . Senior high school footballers will be doing a bit of uniform experimenting in tomorrow's spring grid tilt. . . . The Tyger players will wear several different types of hip and shoulder pads in the fray. . . . The type filling the bill will be purchased before the season opens next fall. . . . A few new plays will be unveiled to test their possibilities for '48 warfare. . . . Movies of the game will be taken so that Coach Augie Morningstar can iron out fundamental weaknesses before the off-season grind concludes next week.

★

A COUPLE of fellows were discussing the opening of the baseball season yesterday. Said one, "My wife's just like a big league umpire. She never thinks I'm safe when I'm out."

★

ONE OF THE BIG reasons for the wide-spread popularity of the Mansfield Relays is the public relations job the meet officials do each year. . . . All of the contestants get the best in trophies and care and the officials and press are treated to a good stay in Mansfield. . . . The pre-Relays party the Friday night before the big event is tops. . . . The party is for officials, coaches and sport scribes. . . . Bill Daugherty is handling the arrangements for the affair.

Ticket Sale Starts Just Before Tilt

Mansfield's legions of football fans will get a preview of the 1948 Senior high school gridiron machine tomorrow night at Arlin field when the varsity goes against a potent all-senior aggregation in the big spring football game.

There is no advance sale of tickets but two north stand ticket windows at the new grid plant will open tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. The kick-off is listed for 8 p. m. Admission will be 75 cents for adults and 35 for students. None of the 8,000 seats will be reserved.

INTO SPRING FUND

Proceeds of the game will go towards the support of track, baseball, golf and tennis. Athletes are now busy in the first three with the tennis squad to convene after spring grid drills end April 24.

In the event of bad weather tomorrow, the spring game will be postponed until next Wednesday.

Not all of the 1948 first-stringers will be in action tomorrow as several of the top-flight performers are preparing for the Mansfield Relays Friday and Saturday. However, the game will give Coach Augie Morning star a fine chance to test some of his sophomores and other players who did not see too much action last fall.

TRY EVERYBODY

Morningstar said this morning, "We will try to use everybody on the squad, but we want to give the varsity players as much work as possible. We have a tough opener next fall (Whiting, Ind.) and won't have much chance to scrimmage before that game."

Game uniforms were issued to both squads this week. The seniors will use the old gold suits while the varsity squad will be outfitted in new red jerseys and gold pants.

★

The Senior high school band of J. Merton Holcombe will play at the game. The band will appear on the field for the pre-game flag-raising ceremonies but will serenade the crowd from the stands during the half-time intermission.

★

The Tyger booster club's track-football meeting is listed tonight at 7:30 p. m. in the Senior high school auditorium.

The spring game and the Mansfield Relays will be discussed by the Bengal coaching staff. Another feature of the meeting will be election of five new members to the Tyger club's board of directors.

Five men—Pete Zeides, John Schroeder, Bill Daugherty, R. L. Creveling and Luther McCally—have been nominated for the posts. Other nominations may be made from the floor.

★

Letters will be awarded to 1947 Senior high footballers at a special track-football assembly tomorrow afternoon at the high school. It will be a "pep" meeting heralding the spring grid game tomorrow night and the Mansfield Relays Friday and Saturday.

Thirty players will receive letters. They are: seniors, Captain Dick Logan, Al Paetsch, Burt Lindsay, Dick Zeigler, Leroy Douville, John McCarrick, Howard Gorsuch, George Doyle, Pat Dailey and Rod Blahnik, juniors, Joe Miller, Harry Osbun, Lou Gregorio, Bernie Weaver, Norb Shibinski, George Russell, Pete Keiser, Joe Letizia, Paul Hammond, Paul Ferguson, Jim Chamberlain and Ken Carver; sophomores, Ed Demyan, Tom Tucker, A. Prospects Dismal For Chicago White Sox

By LEO H. PETERSEN

(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—They were the Patsies of the Pacific and come October they may be the Patsies of the American league.

That's how dismal the 1948 prospects are for Ted Lyons' Chicago White Sox. Except in the catching department, he is short of Major league players. But so long as the St. Louis Browns are in the league, the White Sox have a chance to escape the cellar and wind up seventh Anything higher than that in the final standings for the Pale Hose, however, would be put down as a modern baseball miracle.

Out on the Pacific coast, where they trained, the White Sox won only three of 14 games against the Cubs, Giants, Browns, Pirates and Indians. They even lost two out of three to San Francisco Seals and dropped a game to the University of Southern California.

They showed in those games what has been an inherent weakness on White Sox clubs down through the years light hitting. It used to be that the Pale Hose had a good defense and excellent pitching to offset somewhat that weakness at the plate. But the 1948 edition promises only to have the defense; the pitching doesn't measure up, on paper at least.

Only in the catching department do the White Sox rate right up in there. Lyons would not trade his two top receivers —Mike Tresh and Aaron Robinson—for any other pair in the league.

The pitching outlook wasn't helped when Frank Papish, the lefthander who won 12 games last season, had to undergo a shoulder operation. Lyons was counting on him to win 15 games, but it doesn't look as if he will be ready to take his regular turn until the middle of May, if then.

That leaves Lyons with only two pitchers with more or less of established reputations—Joe Haynes who won 14 last year and Orval Grove, who never has lived up to his promise and scored only six victories last season. But Gillespie, a five game winner; Carl Harrist, who won only three games in 1947, and the 42-year-old relief hurler, Earl Caldwell, who scored only one triumph last season, are the only other holdovers on the pitching staff.

Two former Yankees, Southpaw Bill Wight and Fred Bradley, will get starting chances. Four rookies also are making strong bids to stick—Roman Brunswick, up from Houston where he won 11 games; Howard Judson, a 16-game winner with Waterloo; James Goodwin, who won 11 for Jersey City and Alex Danielishen, a 15-game winner with Wilkes-Barre.

Only two infield spots are set—old Luke Appling at third base and Tony Lupien, who failed in trials with the Red Sox and Phillies on first. Don Kolloway and Cass Michaels are fighting for the second base post and Jack Wallaesa and Floyd Baker for the shortstop post.

Veterans will fill the outfield jobs with Dave Philley, Taft Wright and Bob Kennedy geting the regular call and Ralph Hodgin as the No. 1 utility man. Two rookies, Gerard Scala, a .339 hitter with Waterloo, and James Deslgi, who hit .316 for Hollywood, have impressed Lyons with their speed, but indications are they will not be able to hit Major league pitching.

As far as that is concerned, neither do many of other players on the White Sox roster.

Reds Fashion Smart Record In Exhibitions

LEXINGTON, Ky. —(UP)— Everett (Red) Lively and Kent Peterson were scheduled to pitch for the Cincinnati Reds here today as they open a four-game series against their Syracuse farm club of the International league.

The Reds have concluded their spring exhibitions against major-league teams with a record of 20 victories and 11 defeats. They won 11 out of 15 games against national league foes.

★

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. —(UP)— Bill Bevens, New York Yankee pitcher who went to Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, for examination of his sore arm, was scheduled to rejoin the team today.

The Yanks beat the Indianapolis club of the American Association yesterday, 3 to 2.

★

NEW YORK —(UP)— Little Al Gionfriddo, the man who made world series history last fall when he ran a country mile to rob Joe DiMaggio of a home run, was on his way to the minor leagues today.

The pint-sized outfielder, who hit the headlines with his circus catch in the sixth game of the series, was released outright by the Brooklyn Dodgers to their Montreal farm club of the International league. The 27-year-old speedster was sent down to make room for pitcher Dwain Sloat, whose contract Brooklyn bought from Montreal.

Cleveland Schools Enter 1948 Relays

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Eight, and possibly nine Greater Cleveland high schools will enter the Mansfield Relays Saturday.

Central's state champions, East Tech, East high, suburban Euclid Central, Benedictine, Cathedral Latin, West Tech and neighboring Brush have definitely said they will compete, while Euclid Shore is expected to add its name to the list shortly.

Diamond Requests

Softball and baseball teams can book Mansfield park diamonds for practice sessions by clling the recreation office, 3391-1. All requests should be turned in by Saturday morning of the preceding week.

Pat Seerey Blasts Another As Tribe Triumphs, 7 to 5

EVANSVILLE, Ind.—(INS)—The Cleveland Indians were one up on the New York Giants today as the two teams headed for Evansville.

The Tribe took a 7-6 lead over their Gotham City rivals yesterday by coming out on the fat end of a 7-5 decision at Topeka, Kan., behind the pitching of Don Black and a tremendous home run by Pat Seerey.

Seerey, who has been named by Manager Lou Boudreau to start in right field on opening day, cracked his fifth four-bagger in five days yesterday after a month in which he was unable to hit a single round-tripper.

In the first inning portly Pat lashed a double down the left field line. He walked in the fourth, grounded out in the sixth and hit one a country mile in the eighth. Three of the five homers have been off righthanders.

HANK SINGLES TWICE

Pressed into service because the Tribe's other first basemen are shelved with injuries, Hank Greenberg singled twice with runners on base, accounting for three runs.

Allie Clark also stroked two singles. Jim Hegan a single and a double and Ken Keltner and Thurman Tucker each singled once to drive in a run in the five-run fourth inning.

Black started on the mound for the Tribe and although he was a little wild at first, he settled down to give the Giants four runs on eight hits in his seven-inning stint. Bob Lemon pitched the last two frames, allowing one unearned run on one hit and two errors by Johnny Berardino at shortstop.

ROBINSON TO START

Eddie Robinson, who flew to Cleveland yesterday to have his foot examined, was assured by Dr. James I. Kindrick of Cleveland clinic that he will be able to start on opening day.

Bob Feller will be on the mound today when the Redskins and the Giants go at it again. He will hurl no more than eight innings and in reserve, Bill McKechnie, acting manager in the absence of Lou Boudreau, will have Lyman Linde and Bob Kuzava.

The clubs move to Owensville, Ky., tomorrow and then head for Cleveland where they will play two exhibition games Saturday and Sunday at the municipal stadium.

Tyger Season Grid Tickets Going Quickly

Season tickets for the 1948 Senior high school football games are going at an unprecedented rate, George Sherman, ticket manager, revealed today.

The seven-game ducats went on sale by mail yesterday and Sherman has already had requests for over 2,500 ducats. Last year, approximately 3,000 were sold. The ticket requests are being filled by mail only—and checks or money orders for seven dollars may be sent to Sherman at Senior high school.

The heavy opening surge of requests leaves only 1,500 reserved seats available in the north stands and 750 in the south stands. However, more seats will be put up for sale when the south stands are completed this summer. At least 4,000 seats will be added for the 1948 campaign.

None of the tickets will be mailed to buyers for at least 10 days.

League Leaders Will Be Honored

SHELBY — A dinner-dance for athletic directors, coaches, faculty managers and principals and their wives of the Northern Ohio league schools will be held at the Norwalk Country club May 14.

Athletic Director Al Fendrick of Shelby high served on the committee from the league coaches planning the affair.

Golf will be played preceding the dinner meeting and dance.

The league is composed of Shelby, Norwalk, Galion, Upper Sandusky, Bellevue, Crestline, Willard and Bucyrus.

Champ Yanks Have Few Problems

By LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK—(INS)— The world's champion Yankees, confident of their destiny, were rolling grandly home today in advance of next week's openings—a team with few immediate problems and only one cause for worry.

They seemed likely to be an almost unanimous choice of press and public as the first American league champion to repeat since 1943.

It is a distinction that some clubs feel they can very well do without. A year ago, for example, the St. Louis Cardinals and Boston Red Sox had the unanimous-choice thing hung on them but, when the world series came around, it was the Yankees and Dodgers who played it.

However, the Yanks are more than just the club-to-beat this time. They have some questions still to be answered, but these are fewer than those the Red Sox and Indians continue asking of themselves.

One Yankee question is 37-year-old George McQuinn at first base. But even if old Jarge founders early, the club will at least get a standoff with Boston's Murrell Jones, to say nothing of the fact that the Indians are now playing a young fellow at first base named Greenberg.

Outfielder Charley Keller's physical status still may be mildly questionable, although the big pain-in-the-back man has apparently licked the condition that drove him out of baseball last midseason. But that's exactly the point.

The Yankees didn't win the pennant with Keller. They won it with Johnny Lindell in left field.

John seems to be sitting this one out at the moment, but he's just too good to be kept out of the lineup permanently.

Frank Shea, last year's star freshman pitcher, had been a sore-arm casualty but isn't now. Ed Lopat and Red Embree are "new business" in the way of pitching insurance and Joe DiMaggio, in top condition for once, is ready to appear on opening day for the first time in years. The claim is that he never looked better.

The curious Yogi Berra has revealed himself as surprisingly prone to injury and Floyd Bevens is a definite loss to the pitching staff.

But he was practically a dead loss during 1947's regular season and, as for Berra, the tip is that Gus Niarhos, from Kansas City, will keep Yogi sitting around for a lot of the season, anyhow

All told, it will be difficult for any baseball analyst not to go along with the present Yankees. They don't have questions. They seem to have answers.
